

ago, weights and measures be discharged from the further consideration of the bill (S. 4675) to provide a unit of value and for the coinage of gold and silver, and for other purposes, and that said bill be the special order of the House immediately after the reading of the journal on Tuesday, January 27, instant, and if not disposed of on said day this order shall continue from day to day until said bill is finally disposed of.

Mr. Bland had fought earnestly and steadily for the complete remonetization of silver, and on this occasion he made the following remarks:

That, I say, Mr. Speaker, is the resolution I intend to offer as an amendment to any special order that is offered in this House for the consideration of any other bill, and I shall insist upon it from now until the 4th of March, or until that bill is considered and passed by this House.

Mr. Bland was unable to obtain recognition at the hands of Speaker Reed, and so, on January 24, 1891, his resolution was referred to the committee on rules, and there it slept its sleep.

Confining our vision to the nineteen central states, and following the thought of Hon. Harrison Kelley, late Representative in Congress from the central district in Kansas, with reference to the defeat of faithless Republicans, it may be remarked that north of Kansas, the state of Nebraska has not a representative in Congress who will sustain the Harrison administration; that Hon. George W. E. Dorsey, Speaker Reed's chairman of the committee on banking and currency, who had a plurality of 11,070 in 1888, in 1890 was left in a minority of 29,705, his successor being a People's man, Hon. O. M. Kem.

Perhaps Mr. Dorsey will be certain to remember his attempts to push through the House a bill providing for $300,000,000 of fifty-year bonds to eternalize the monopolistic national banking system, and thus conclude that he is indeed a thrifty "statesman without a job."

Think of five Republicans retired in Iowa, six in Wisconsin, three in Minnesota and seven in Illinois; and then these sapient Republican prophets talking of their national victory in 1892!

Hon. S. G. Comstock, of the Fifth district of Minnesota, having a plurality of 7,519 in 1888, and in 1890 finding himself in a minority of 19,383, succeeded by that sturdy People's man of Norwegian origin, Hon. Kittel Halvorsen, of Broton!

Let God be praised that the sturdy, true people of the land have awakened and are rapidly awakening to the consideration of the great fact, power inheres in the people, and that pseudo plutocratic politicians, sometimes misnamed statesmen, will be speedily finding themselves without jobs, or nominal servants in the body politic.

People's Party State Committee Meeting.

A meeting of the People's party state central committee of the state of Kansas is hereby called to meet at the Dutton house, Topeka, at 10 o'clock a. m., on Tuesday, August 11th, for the purpose of arranging for a vigorous carrying on of the respective county campaigns of 1891, and attending to such other business as may come before the meeting. The chairmen of the respective county committees of the People's party are earnestly requested to meet and advise with the state committee on this occasion. There is much work to be done to ensure the election of a People's party ticket in each county and a full attendance of members of the committee and of chairmen of county committees is urged and expected.

Alliance Commercial Convention of Kansas.

Believing that the industrial classes can best protect and advance their financial and business interests by organization and co-operation in the various branches of trade and commerce, and to accomplish this end it is necessary to meet, discuss and interchange views concerning the various enterprises now before us for our patronage and support:

We, the undersigned members of the various reform organizations, do hereby propose and call a state business or commercial convention to be held at Topeka August 20, 1891, for the purpose of an exchange of views upon the importance and necessity of maintaining and building up the numerous co-operative associations now in existence, or hereafter organized, such as insurance companies, fire, life and hail, the Mutual Protective Association, the Kansas Alliance Exchange Company, and other kindred organizations:

Such convention to be composed of members of the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union, the National Citizen's Industrial Alliance, Knights of Labor, Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association, the Mutual Protective Association, the Alliance Mutual Benefit Society, the Kansas Alliance Exchange Company, and all Alliance insurance companies, elevator companies, or any other reform organization, and each of the above organizations, local, county or district Alliances and assemblies are requested to send one or more delegates to said convention, and each and every member of such organizations, who feels an interest in such a convention, is invited to attend.

The president of each county Alliance should be present or appoint someone to attend, and as many sub-Alliances and local assemblies should be represented as possible. Reduced rates will be secured.
